

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Zelda Fan Film to be Screened in Los Angeles

Date for online film release will be announced at final screening!

Atlanta, Ga. – October 22, 2009 – After a successful screening of The Hero of Time (HoT) in New York City last month, the HoT team is taking the film out West for the final screening prior to the online release.

The next Hero of Time screening will be in Los Angeles at the James Bridges Theater (UCLA) on November 14, 2009 at 7:00pm and 9:30pm. Doors open at 6:30pm. The date for the online film release will be announced at the screening. Director Joel Musch, and Producer David Blane will be present to introduce the film to attendees. BMB Finishes created this film in homage to the Nintendo game, The Legend of Zelda series, and will not profit from screenings or any activity connected to the film.

The Hero of Time begins when a young boy from the forest (Link, played by David Blane) is beckoned by his dreams and the sage of the forest (Deku Tree) to venture to the city of Hyrule and seek Princess Zelda's council. The evil Lord Ganondorf (Adam Boyer) has plotted to overthrow the kingdom which propels Princess Zelda (Hannah Fierman) into hiding. Link aspires to save Zelda and the kingdom by pulling the Master Sword in the Temple of Time - consequently sending him five years into the future where Ganondorf now rules and threatens the future of the kingdom. Link must find a way to save his princess and assemble the pieces of the Triforce which will return peace to the land of Hyrule.

Following 3 million views of the original The Hero of Time trailer, BMB produced two follow up teasers for the film including, "The Hero of Time Dance Party" which parodied the original Zelda-Nintendo commercial. George R. Powell wrote an original score for the film which expedited production to allow for the finalized trailer in late 2008, promising eager fans a summer 2009 premiere. The Hero of Time premiered June 2009 at the Plaza Theater in Atlanta, Georgia.
